In the August Delinquent is shown a unique dwelling. The site of the house is a deviation from the conventional, being level with the street in front and dropping back abruptly at the rear. Out of the scores of people who have spoken to the editor of this paper on the question only one has attempted to defend the action of the board of supervisors. The politics of these gentlemen were not inquired into but they were all good substantial citizens and tax payers.

If the place gardener will only continue the work of plowing up the court house plaza to those hideous weed patches on either side of the court house, and plant the whole place to grass and trees and then fill up that big excavator in the south east corner, it will begin to look like a grain or two of common sense was going to be used in beautifying this place.

Only a few days after publishing the above "idea of the value of the United Verde mine," the same editor devoted several columns in defense of the board of supervisors for donating $24,000 which belongs to the community, to the company owning the above mine, claiming that W. A. Clark has lost $1,000,000 in its operation last year. It also defended the action of the board, in reducing the assessment for this year from $5,000,000 as fixed by the assessor to less than $1,000,000. Gentle reader and taxpayer who do you think the utterances of such an individual is worth? What sort of a picture does the two statements present of the man who penned them both, within less than thirty days? Does it impress you with the honesty and integrity of their author, or do you consider it a reflection on his supposed intelligence? Sixty-two million dollars of ore blocked out in the mine one week, and the next week it is worth nothing. A. A. Vassett, such shattering conclusions.

People with short memories should not attempt to become apologists for any person and particularly when the value of a mining property is involved. Only a few days ago an alleged newspaper published the following:

"Some idea of the value of the United Verde mine may be gained from the statement that since 1881 $80,000,000 worth of ore has been removed from it, and it is estimated that there are at least $1,000,000 at present time at least $500,000,000 at any rate between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000, and the statement is made that under the machinery in the mine $12,000,000 worth of ore has been blocked out and not taken down, because the machinery that would be undermined to do so."
